RSPA Welcomes New Education Coordinator & Introduces Fall Semester of Education

Charlotte, NC—September 29, 2008 – The Retail Solutions Providers Association, the only association dedicated to the retail technology industry, is pleased to announce Lauren Stark as RSPA’s Education Coordinator. Lauren has a strong background in education working as an instructor at the college level teaching corporate and continuing education for over ten years. Prior to her teaching, Lauren worked in the technology industry as a systems analyst and support supervisor.

“I am very excited to be in a position with RSPA where I can apply my years of training experience and my organizational skills. Most of all, I look forward to the challenge of learning about an industry that I previously only experienced from a back-office and consumer standpoint,” said Lauren Stark, RSPA Education Coordinator.

“Providing relevant, retail technology industry specific information is the cornerstone of RSPA’s Education initiative. We are excited to have a person with significant education experience in both the public and corporate sectors as our Education Coordinator. Lauren Stark’s experience will be put to good use as we take RSPA’s education program to the next level,” said Joe Finizio, RSPA President & CEO.

In addition to hiring an education coordinator, RSPA is also announcing its Fall Semester of Education with a robust schedule of both on-site and online courses.
