Industry Association Grows Substantially in 2007

Charlotte, NC – November 2, 2007 - The Retail Solutions Providers Association (RSPA) recently gained their 600th member. RSPA has grown from 500 to 600 members in less than six months. Overall, the association has grown 50% since January 2007.

RSPA is the only association dedicated to the retail technology industry. RSPA's mission is to provide education, information, and a home for all retail technology providers, including hardware manufacturers, software developers, resellers, dealers, and all other companies providing technology to the retail marketplace. Reaching 600 members is a milestone for RSPA as it makes the association's voice stronger. RSPA provides members with relevant information and tangible benefits to help grow their business and improve the industry as a whole.

"Our 600th member and 50% membership growth this year validates the need and importance of an industry association for retail technology," said Joe Finizio, RSPA Executive Director.
